Attention water users!

If you use water from a well, stream, or lake in the areas of Whatcom and Skagit Counties shown below, adjudication affects you.

Here are a few things you can do to legally use water in the future:

- Look for a summons delivered by mail in the coming months. It will include a court claim form and detailed instructions.
- Fill out the court claim form describing your current and past water use.
- Submit the completed claim form within one year from receipt of the summons.

Adjudication: A legal process used in water management to ensure fair and legal use of water and to secure water for long-term planning and stream flow protection.
