

Water Resources Program Skagit River Basin Mitigation Program Application Form

Instructions and Application

When do I use this form?

Use this form to apply for a Proof of Mitigated Water Supply document under the Skagit River Basin Mitigation Program. A Proof of Mitigated Water Supply confirms a legal water source to support development of a home on the appurtenant land.

Applications will only be accepted for parcels fully or partially located in the mitigation zone. Incomplete applications and applications for land that is outside of the mitigation zone will be administratively rejected. Ecology will process applications on a first-come, first-served basis.

Securing a Proof of Mitigated Water Supply from Ecology is a first step towards receiving a county-issued building permit. However, other local regulations may limit building on your property (e.g. various setback requirements, limitations on development within the floodway, requirements to hook-up to an available public water supply). A Proof of Mitigated Water Supply does not guarantee approval at the county level. The document is solely a recognition of legal water availability. The Proof of Mitigated Water Supply includes a number of conditions on water use that must be complied with, including water use limits, cellular-based telemetered metering, and well siting requirements.

How do I submit this form?

Complete applications can be emailed to: skagitmainstemmitigation@ecy.wa.gov

As part of the application, you must certify that you are the legal owner for the land described in this application. All owners must sign this application and be able to prove ownership, if requested. Electronic signatures are allowed.
